

CAP Joins Forces with WOW!

The Community Action Partnership, along with national and state organizations, is joining forces with Wider Opportunities for Women (WOW) and co-sponsoring their second annual blog day in celebration of Older American's Month. The goal is to provide advocates—including CAAs—and concerned citizens with an opportunity to be represented in the conversation about what matters when it comes to the budget of all Americans—young and old.

This year's blog day on Wednesday, May 26 will feature the theme "America's Budget Matters (So Does Yours)," and will be held on the day of the next meeting of President Obama's National Commission on Fiscal Responsibility and Reform.

You can participate in this important discussion by blogging your responses to the following questions:

- What can President Obama and Congress do to help Americans be economically secure while balancing the budget?
- What do President Obama and Congress need to know about your budget—or that of those you represent?

WOW has created tools and resources to help you join in the blogging event, including guidelines for writing up blog posts and/or comments and information on how to participate via Facebook and Twitter. For more information, go to <http://www.wowonline.org/budgetmatters/>

Thanks to our great colleagues at WOW for spearheading such a critical initiative!
